

Using the Grades Tab to Access your Child's Feedback in Teams

During lockdown, Teams Assignments is central to our delivery of remote learning. As you will already know, your child receives written feedback on the work they return, as well as verbally in lessons. The Grades tab in Teams is an excellent way for parents to keep track of the feedback your child is receiving on a day-to-day basis.

Clicking on the Grades tab for your child will give the following information:

 Handed in

Your child handed in their work by the deadline. Verbal feedback may have been given in the lesson.

 Handed in 12 hours late

Your child handed in their work after the deadline.

 Not handed in

Your child has not completed this piece of work.

 Returned

Your child handed in their work by the deadline and the teacher has provided feedback. This is similar to how a marked book would be given back to a pupil in school. The child should read any feedback and address it in future work.

 Viewed

Your child may have started the work but they have not handed it in. Check the due date to see whether it is overdue.

There is written feedback for the assignment. Click on the cross to read the teacher's comments.

A rubric (mark scheme) has been used to mark the work and points have been awarded. This will not be appropriate or necessary for all assignments.
